THE CAPABILITIES OF THE SOUTH.—The American Enterprise discourses on the capabilities of the Southern States, and urges the use of our own materials and products for manufacturing and business purposes. The building up of the home markets is the first desideratum. Its remarks are well worth the consideration of the Southern people and all who are interested in the future welfare and prosperity of the South. We quote:—"Suppose all the cotton, tobacco, and grain are manufactured 'on the hill,' suppose the hides, horns, and bones of the cattle are converted into harness, shoes, saddles, bridles, buttons, combs, &c., in our own towns; suppose the iron of Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama—of the whole South and West—is turned into machinery and utensils, from the steam engine to the nail, from the columbiad to the caubric needle, at home; suppose the forests of the South and West are turned to use at home, from the cedar bucket to the live-oak frigate. Our hickory will make carriages, our sweet gum, lams, our maple shingles. If we work up all our wool and wood, our iron and copper, our cotton, tobacco, and grain; make and refine our own sugar; make our own glass, earthenware, and paper, what need have we for other than a home market? Our cities can build their own ships, and transport the manufactured products of their own back counties. Now what do we need? Power. We have, from Texas to Maryland, the finest waterpower, and abundance of coal, iron, and timber. Capital? It will come from Europe, from the North (see Sprague with a Georgian cotton-factory), and from our own people, as they save a little clear money. We are coming to it."

In its financial article to-day, the Baltimore Sun says:—"There is scarcely any branch of business that has not experienced more or less disappointment during the last few months. The expectations of an active and prosperous spring trade end in disappointment. The depression is attributed in the first place to the embargoes on transportation, in consequence of the protracted winter, and then to the advance in the gold premium, and the stringency in the money market. It is the opinion of eminent financiers that no permanent and general business prosperity is to be looked for in advance of a restoration of specie payments, and the final abandonment by the Federal government of all attempts to manipulate the currency. The gold premium was a fraction higher yesterday, at 15½, and at least a million and a half will be shipped to Europe this week. Though a large amount will now come on the market in payment of government interest, yet the tendency is upward."

The American Farmer for July has a review, by an able scientific journal of London, of Prof. Campbell Morfit's late work on Phosphoric Fertilizers, in which it is assumed that a revolution will be effected in the manufacture of artificial manures by the Professor's method. Another important paper is from the pen of the well known Mr. Lawes, celebrated as a manufacturer of fertilizers and as a farmer in England, who pronounces the South Carolina mineral phosphate, one of the best and cheapest in the world.

The Treasury Department has prepared a comparative statement of appropriations made by the last Congress for the fiscal year ending in 1873, and the fiscal year ending 1874. There is an increase of $18,000,000 for the latter over the former, the entire appropriation being $172,290,700. The expenditures for the Executive Department were increased over $3,000,000, military establishment $4,000,000, naval establishment $4,000,000 public works $6,000,000, legislative one million and a third.

It is said that the President will go from Long Branch to Philadelphia to be present, on the Fourth of July, at the formal transfer of the site in Fairmount Park for the Centennial Exposition building. Unless the illness of his father should then become so serious as to require his presence in the West, the President will then pass the following week in the mountains of the Adirondacks in Maine.

The New Hampshire Patriot has brought forward General Winfield Scott Hancock, of Pennsylvania, and Hon. W. S. Groesbeck, of Ohio, as its candidates for nomination by the Democratic National Convention for President and Vice-President in 1876. The Martinsburg Statesman nominates Mr. Chas. J. Faulkner, of West Virginia, for next President. This is taking the field early.

Paris is now in the process of "reconstruction." Twelve million francs have been voted for the reconstruction of the Hotel de Ville, and for the repair of the Tuileries, the Conseil d'Etat, the Palais de Justice, the Palais Royal, the Louvre, the Vendome Column, the barracks, &c., we may estimate that an equal amount will have to be voted and expended.

The Judge of the U. S. District Court in Maine, in a recent case, decided that the only persons to whom the "commercial paper" clause in the bankrupt law pertains are brokers, merchants, traders, manufacturers, and miners. The case will be taken to the U. S. Circuit Court on a writ of error.

Col. Solomon Hillen, formerly mayor of Baltimore, member of Congress and of the State Legislature, died suddenly on Thursday night, at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York probably from apoplexy.

In Nashville, yesterday 20 deaths from cholera; in Memphis 9. The disease is abating in both places. In Cincinnati 6 deaths.

A New York Times's Washington special says that Gen. Belknap, after a most careful search of the records of the War Department in order to ascertain whether the allegation that some of them had been taken in true, is unable to find that any of the records committed to his charge are missing.

HIRAM POWERS, the eminent American sculptor, died in Florence, Italy, yesterday, after a long illness. The news is contained in a dispatch to the New York Herald. Mr. Powers was not only distinguished as an artist, but highly successful in his profession.

The displacement of a rail, evidently done maliciously, on the Iowa division of the Illinois Central railroad, near Farley, Iowa, Wednesday night, precipitated a freight train from the track. The engineer, and a fireman were instantly killed and seven cars were wrecked.

Stephen J. W. Tabor, Fourth Auditor of the Treasury, has tendered his resignation as a member of the Civil Service Examining Board, because of the onerous duties of his office as Auditor, and Mr. Armstrong will pursue a like course.

The millers and merchants of Georgetown, D. C., held a meeting yesterday and appointed a committee to confer with the authorities of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal relative to the continued stoppage of water from the mills.

At the trial of Woodhull, Claflin & Blood, in the U. S. Court, at New York, yesterday, for sending obscene publications through the United States mails, owing to defects in finding the indictment, they were found not guilty.

The Conservatives of Frederick county, Va., have appointed Delegates to the Richmond Conservative convention, and recommended that some gentleman from the Lower Valley be placed on the ticket for State officers.

It is the opinion of many that the present bankrupt law will be repealed by the next Congress. Movements to effect this are already being made in several portions of the country.

Grape culture and the making of wine will be largely increased in North Carolina this summer.

Letter from Richmond.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]
RICHMOND, June 27.—The all absorbing subject here, is, who is to be the next Governor? As the time for the convention approaches candidates multiply, and friends become active. The general opinion seems to be that the fight is between Withers and Kemper, with the possibility of some new man being taken up as a compromise candidate—John Goode or R. M. T. Hunter. Politicians well posted, claim that there is but little difference as to the strength of Withers or Kemper, and that the vote in convention will be an exceedingly close one.

For Lieut. Governor, Gen. Jas. A. Walker, Gen. Arthur C. Cummings, Jas. V. Brooke, of Fauquier; T. J. Kirkpatrick, of Lynchburg, and Gen. W. B. Terry, of Wythe, are mentioned. The election will, in a great measure, depend upon who is the candidate for Governor. The present Lieut. Governor, John L. Marye, has many friends who desire to see him retain the position.

For Attorney General, the name now most prominently mentioned is that of Raleigh T. Daniel, of Richmond city. Mr. Daniel's claims will be earnestly advocated upon the ground that to his labors as the chairman of the Central Committee, the Conservative party mainly owes its victories. He has expended time, money and energy in building up the party, and it seems appropriate that his services should be acknowledged by unanimously conferring upon him the position of Attorney General. That he is eminently fit for the position, no one doubts, being one of the ablest lawyers in the State. The names of Col. T. W. M. Holliday, J. R. Tucker and others are now mentioned in connection with the place.

Richmond continues to improve. Business is active and property increasing in value.

MORE ANON.

FATALLY SHOT.—George Smith, of Columbia, Pennsylvania, who has been working in this city for some time past, started Thursday to walk home to Columbia. He reached Baltimore Friday night and applied at the Western Station for assistance, stating that he was in an exhausted condition, which his appearance fully indicated, and that he had been shot by some unknown man at Beltsville. Smith stated that he had been working in Alexandria for some time, and losing his position here about a week ago, concluded to return to his home in Columbia, and being without means started on his journey on foot, leaving Alexandria on Wednesday. He reached Beltsville about 10 o'clock Wednesday night, and on halting at the depot to rest, he was approached by some men who were lounging about the depot, and ordered away from the place. He attempted to explain to them the objects of his journey when he was assaulted and knocked down, but managed to escape by running, and took refuge in a field alongside the road, where he lay concealed for a couple of hours. Thinking his assailants had returned to the depot, he emerged from his hiding-place, but upon going into the road, found the men there, and fearing another assault he started to run, when one of the party shouted, "Shoot him," and another fired a shot-gun at Smith, the entire load taking effect in his back and head as stated. He continued his race, and not being pursued further managed to reach Laurel, where he states Dr. Snowden dressed his wounds and extracted several of the shot. He then made his way to Baltimore. Dr. Crum was summoned to attend him, and succeeded in extracting a number of the shot. The injured man was removed to the Lombard-street Infirmary.

AMERICANS AT VIENNA.—We have accounts of the formal opening of the American Department. Two hundred Americans met in the model school house. Mr. Schultz, chief of the commission, introduced Mr. Jay, the minister, who expressed thanks for being thanked. A Mr. Hoyt expatiated on the school house, and Mr. Schultz concluded the ceremonies by assuring the inpatient that they could air their oratory on the Fourth of July, when the American eagle could soar without restraint.

The space allotted to American articles is said to be not half full, and to present a very meagre appearance. Thirty thousand dollars were uselessly expended in constructing buildings, which are not needed. In machinery only do we present a respectable show, and in the model school house, which has become the bye word of nations.

We believe Congress made a large appropriation for this exhibition, and our friends, who took the matter in hand, proposed to hang all the nations of the earth by exhibiting that for which they were least known at home. But by a providential dispensation, as it were, they were made to exhibit in the forefront that which of all things they were most studious to conceal: their venality. Before the exhibition was opened word went throughout Europe, Asia, Africa and America that the American Commission was venal, and the truth of the allegation was ratified by the government by displacing the commissioners and appointing others.—*Rich. NEWS OF THE DAY.

"To show the very age and body of the Times."

Advices from New York report that suits brought by the Government against large sugar importing houses for defrauding the customs have been compromised by the payment of from twenty to forty per cent of the amounts claimed. A suit for $40,000 against a dry goods house has been compromised for $22,000; a similar suit for $60,000 is pending against a hardware importer.

A great fire is reported to be raging in the woods along a portion of the line of the Old Colony Railroad, Massachusetts. The flames have advanced seven miles from the starting point, and present a burning front eight miles in extent. The flanks are approaching towards towns, and there is no immediate prospect that the fire will be checked.

A late dispatch announces the arrival of the Great Eastern at Heart's Content. All the deep sea cable has been laid to within eighty miles of the shore, where it is cut and buoyed. A heavy gale prevented work upon it yesterday, but as soon as the weather moderates it will be spliced to the shore end and communication completed.

Singular law suits were begun yesterday in Paris; one was that of the Duke de Brimont against the proprietors of the American Register for publishing a report of the proceedings in a Court of law in New York, in which the Duke was the plaintiff, and the other one against James Gordon Bennett for the same offence.

A Washington dispatch reports that about $175,000 worth of certificates of indebtedness of the District Government have been obtained from the engraver on a forged order, and put upon the market in Northern cities.

At an election in Bath, England, yesterday, to fill a vacancy in the House of Commons, barricades were erected in the streets, and tradesmen closed their shops, so fearful were they of disorder.

The Brazilian Council of State has decided that Papal bulls must have the placet of the Government before they can be promulgated, and that sentences of excommunication are without civil effect in Brazil.

Advices from Jamaica to June 18, report another fire at Port-au-Prince, by which a large portion of the commercial part of the place was destroyed.

A dispatch from Hamilton, White Pine county, Nevada, says the town was nearly destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Loss $500,000.

Inspector P. J. Howitz will be the new Director of the Medical Bureau of the Navy.

Washington and Lee University.

LXINGTON, VA., June 27.—The Board of Trustees of Washington and Lee University have adjourned. They accepted the resignation of Judge John W. Brockenbrough as Professor of Common and Statute Law. They then elected Professor J. Randolph Tucker to take charge of the Law School, and on his recommendation elected as his assistant Mr. Charles A. Graves, of Bedford, a distinguished Master of Arts of the University, and for two years a most successful assistant professor.

The resignation of Col. Allan was accepted, and the nomination in Applied Mathematics committed for the present to G. W. C. Lee, who filled the same chair in the Virginia Military Institute so satisfactorily. Gen. Lee is empowered to appoint an assistant. Col. Allan was elected to fill a vacancy in the Board of Trustees. The Committee on Endowment reported an addition of $65,000 during the year including $20,000 from W. W. Corcoran, esq., of Washington.—Richmond Dispatch.

CLOSING EXERCISES AT THE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

—The annual commencement exercises of the Virginia Theological Seminary were held at the Seminary on Thursday last when the graduating class, composed of Messrs. Gibbons, Jackson, Johns, Mason, Pratt, Tucker and Ward, received their diplomas. Bishop Johns, assisted by Bishop Whittle, held ordination services yesterday in the chapel, when the graduating class, consisting of the gentlemen above named, were admitted to the diaconate, and those of the class of the previous year were ordained prebys. The chapel was crowded by the alumni of the institution and the fair friends of those admitted to holy orders. The services were of the most solemn and impressive character. It was expected that Bishop Lee, of Del., would have delivered the sermon on the occasion, but he was unavoidably detained by illness, and in his absence Rev. Mr. McKim, of this city, officiated. His sermon was of rare excellence. His remarks regarding the distinction between a minister of Christ and a priest were most happy, and every one felt with him that where there was no sacrifice to be offered there could be no priest to officiate.

This institution celebrates its semi-centennial anniversary during the present year. Many of the leading ministers of the church, noted for their zealous advocacy of evangelical truth, have gone forth from Fairfax; indeed, the great majority of those who have been thus distinguished were educated there. At the present time the Bishop of Virginia presides over the institution, and the venerable Dr. Sparrow, though feeble in bodily health, yet with unimpaired intellectual vigor, still devotes all his energies to the work in which he has been so long and so faithfully engaged. Associated with them are the Rev. Drs. Packard and Walker, and latterly Dr. McWhinney, so widely known to the Episcopalian public by his compilation of Episcopal ecclesiastical history, entitled the "Monograph."

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—The Grand Royal Aach Chapter of Canada has invited Lafayette R. A. Chapter No. 5 of Washington to visit Kingston on the 13th of next August, and exemplify the work of the Chapter before that grand body at its annual convocation.

The colored man, Sandy A. Barnes, who came on from Baltimore in April last, and attempted to kill his wife in the yard of her employee was tried yesterday for assault with intent to kill. He was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years.

Three small pox cases are reported. No further sign of cholera appears, but the sanitary officials are busy still placing the city in proper sanitary condition.

Mr. W. W. Corcoran has purchased for $80,000, and presented to the Church of the Ascension, the church site at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Twelfth street.

In the Criminal Court yesterday James Potter was sentenced to the penitentiary for three years, for assault with intent to kill his wife in May last; James Robbins for two years for robbing Mrs. Little Sallier in May last, and Lucy Risers for three years, for assault with intent to kill her husband in May last. Lucy declared, on leaving the court, that if ever she got out of the penitentiary she intended to "mount the gallows" for her husband.

Albert H. Smith was executed in Springfield, Mass., yesterday, for the murder of Charles D. Sackett, at Westfield, in November last. The remains of Smith were sent to Baltimore, where he formerly resided. The circumstances of the crime show that Smith and Sackett were waiting upon the same young lady, Miss Jennie Bates, and on the night of the 20th of November, Smith, finding on calling to see her, that she had gone to the theatre with Sackett, became frenzied with jealousy, met them when they were coming home, shot down Sackett and wounded Miss Bates.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

The Staunton Vindicator says:—"Tuesday's rain storm did much damage in various parts of Augusta county. In the neighborhood of Mount Spring the waters rose and washed away a good deal of corn, and the wind tore down trees and fences, and in the vicinity of Green-town there was similar damage done. In Staunton the carpenter shop of R. H. Fisher, on Beverly street, was blown down, and some of the flying timbers broke panels of the fence across the street. A sturdy tree near by was torn down. There was also much damage done in the northwestern part of the county."

Mr. G. L. Hyson, of Manassas, has sold his beautiful gray horse, "Gen. Lee," to Dr. W. D. Stroud, of Philadelphia, for two hundred and fifty dollars. The Gazette says: Mr. H. has several "native" horses which are a credit to himself and county.

The establishment of a tri-weekly line of stages between Front Royal and Luray, by John T. Brown & Co., is a great convenience to the travelling public, the fare being only two dollars between the termini.

The four principal bridges on the Valley railroad will be of iron, and are now being built in Baltimore.

Balancing on the Valley railroad began last week.

The Fredericksburg Star says the work on the F. O. & C. R. R. is progressing finely.

THE CROPS.—The Piedmont Virginian says:—"Our farmers are in the midst of their wheat harvest and we are pleased to say that they report the crop as a fair one and of fine quality. The crop in this neighborhood is growing finely and promises a good yield. Since Tuesday evening last, we have been visited by several showers of fine rain, which is good on the corn, oats and grass, but somewhat damaging to the standing wheat."

The Warren Sentinel says:—"One of the finest crops of wheat in the Valley of Virginia is now being harvested upon the splendid farm of Major James R. Richards, in this county; competent judges estimating it at 3,000 bushels, which is an average of 20 bushels per acre."

The Manassas Gazette says:—"Several 'go ahead' farmers in this vicinity have commenced harvesting their wheat crop, which appears, thus far, to be of fine quality. This section of the State was visited by a fine rain on Tuesday and Wednesday, which has done the spring crops an immense amount of good."

At the recent Commencement of Princeton College the honorary degree of LL. D. was conferred upon Gen. M. Stroud, of the class of 1817, judge of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court; J. A. Thomas, A. M., D. of Pennsylvania; Wm. Allen Bryant, of New York; Rev. John Forsyth, professor at West Point Military Academy, and that of D. D. upon Rev. William Irving and Rev. D. S. Gregory.

Some of the signatures to the agreement of the Western railway managers abolishing dead headmen proving informal, the compact is void, for the present at least, and Western dead heads nod again with dreams of free rides.

The address delivered by John Goode jr., of Norfolk, before the Literary Societies of Washington and Lee University, has been published. It is an able and eloquent production.
